Recall a time someone showed you love through what they did, not just what they said.

Key Points

Connect to God's truth by sharing...

- Because God loves us, we can love others in practical ways—like these three people in the Bible who showed love in action:
- Love endures. Ruth stayed with Naomi even when she had every reason to leave. We can endure through loss and uncertainty when our love is built on faithfulness, not convenience.
- Love stands with others and seeks their good. Jonathan supported David even when it cost him his own comfort and safety. We can protect, encourage, and call out God's purpose in each others' lives.
- Love breaks barriers. The Samaritan helped a stranger everyone else ignored. Our love can break social and cultural barriers as we give generously to those in need.
- With God's grace, we can endure, stand with others, and break barriers as we love the way He has loved us.

Discuss Together (pick at least one)

- Which of the three kinds of love—enduring, standing firm, or stepping across barriers—is hardest for you right now? Why?
- When has someone shown you love by simply staying by your side through a hard time?
- Who in your life might need love “in action” this week?
- What’s one way you can help someone who can’t repay you or thank you?
