Start the conversation with this question...

Think about someone from a different generation who has influenced your life. What did you learn from them?

Key Points

Connect to God's truth by sharing...

- God cares about every generation and desires to bring people closer to Him and to one another.
- God's heart is multigenerational. He wants every generation to know Him personally, experience His love, and grow in faith.
- God desires to restore families. Because of sin, we experience broken families and damaged relationships. But God desires to turn the hearts of parents and children toward one another and bring healing and reconciliation.
- God calls His children back to Him. God calls His followers to repentance and to live in ways that honor Him. As we turn our hearts to Him, He works in our lives and relationships, helping us pass on our faith to the next generations.
- As we follow God, we can reflect His heart by responding in humility, intentionally strengthening our family relationships, and helping those around us know Him better.

- Name someone from a different generation you'd like to know better. What could you do to connect with them and encourage them in their faith?
- Is there a relationship within your family or spiritual family that you'd like to see restored? What's one step you could take toward reconciliation?
- Are there people from a different generation you find difficult to connect with? What makes it challenging, and what could help you understand them better?
